

Dear John,

I don't think I've ever seen so many middle school students cry in the course of one hour. Your speech was incredibly moving. I really liked how you drew the audience in with the comedy. It opened my eyes to how easy my life is compared to some others. I've got rather easy parents. There is a lot of love in my family. I've always had someone watching my back. I also know that at any moment my life could take a turn for the worst. You helped me prepare for that. You helped me realize nothing is more important than love. I have taken my life for granted for as long as I can remember. Now I know it is not meant to be taken for granted. The message you gave could not have been said better. During the speech, I was observing different people I know. I know a lot of their problems. One girl started smoking to make her parents mad, it worked. Now she has a ton of family problems though. Well, during the program, she broke into tears. I am guessing her life is going to start changing for the better. So, thanks. Thank you for what you did for me and thousands of others around the country.

Yours Truly,
Eric White
